

Panelists

Faraad Colston is currently working as an Aerospace engineer for the Department of Defense at DCMA Boeing Philadelphia (H-47/Chinook). Work experiences as an Industrial Engineer supporting the production of the V22-Osprey, as well as I.E. roles at two Boeing part suppliers. Studied Industrial & systems engineering at Philadelphia University 12' & a lean six sigma greenbelt.

Kevin Drevik is the past President of the IIE South Jersey Delaware Valley Professional Chapter No. 132. Kevin has been active in Industrial Engineering since joining the engineering society in 1999. He has served as VP for the Northeast Region and as an adjunct professor at Philadelphia University's engineering department. Kevin graduated from West Point in 1986, and since 1991, he has worked in Warehousing and Logistics at multiple companies. He is currently the Director of Engineering for NFI, Inc. in Cherry Hill, NJ.

Nicolas Le Gall is the President of IISE Chapter 132. After completing Bachelor's degrees in Physics and Mechanical Engineering in 2015, he worked in an Industrial Engineering environment at Destination Maternity Corporation's state of the art automated distribution center. In 2018, he resumed his studies, pursuing a Master's degree in Industrial and Systems Engineering at Rutgers, which he completed in January 2020. His experience and studies focused on data analytics, simulation, optimization, and process improvement, and he is aiming to continue his career in these fields.

Paul Siebeneicher has been an IIE member since 2007 and has served on the Board of Directors of the South Jersey Delaware Valley Professional Chapter continuously since 2009 as Webmaster and since 2013 as Secretary as well as Webmaster. His work experience includes automation design, software development, business process engineering, and compliance engineering. He currently works as a Quality Engineer for Vertical Screen Inc. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Bucknell University and a CompTIA Security Plus Certification.

Dr. Tom Edwards is an Associate Professor of Instruction in Engineering Management and the Interim Director of the newly established Department of Engineering, Technology and Management. Dr. Edwards pursues organizational innovation from the three perspectives of research, practical application, and teaching. His many years of practical experience include driving innovation from the top management team of a NYSE-listed company.

Mike Madera is the Associate Director of Career Development & Experiential Education at Temple University College of Engineering.