

Poxoes: glow, bones, root

Recent Works by
BFA and MFA Candidates at Tyler
School of Art and Architecture
Temple University
Philadelphia (PA)

Artists:

Deejay Bosca
Jodi Canfield
Francesca Lally
Olivia Musselman
Alessandra Puglisi
Katharine Suchan

Exhibition Opening

Tuesday November 28th
6:00-8:00 pm

On display through December 2, 2023

Gallery of Art

Temple University Rome

The Gallery of Art, Temple University Rome, is pleased to present the exhibition "Poxoes: glow, bones, root" opening on Tuesday November 28th from 6:00-8:00pm. The show will run through Saturday December 2, 2023.

Poxoes is a show of six artists who question and explore personal experience, the power of language, and the slipperiness of meaning. It is a culmination of works spent bridging their personal experiences and relationships while engaging with the deep historical environment that Rome provides. Poxoes is almost a lot of things; sprung from a game of chance, it emphasizes the magic that happens when put in a place of fierce unknowing and trust.

The participating artists are BFA and MFA candidates at Tyler School of Art and Architecture, Temple University (Philadelphia, PA) who spent a term at Temple University Rome Campus, exploring their creativity in a new environment. The artists, Deejay Bosca (printmaking), Jodi Canfield (painting), Francesca Lally (printmaking), Olivia Musselman (printmaking), Alessandra Puglisi (sculpture) and Katharine Suchan (painting), will present their very recent work, produced during these months in Rome.

“Poxoes: bagliore, ossa, radice”

Recenti lavori dei Candidati BFA e MFA alla Tyler School of Art and Architecture Temple University, Filadelfia (PA)

Artisti:

Deejay Bosca
Jodi Canfield
Francesca Lally
Olivia Musselmann
Alessandra Puglisi
Katharine Suchan

Inaugurazione Mostra: martedì 28 novembre, ore 18:00-20:00

La Galleria d'Arte, Temple University Rome, è lieta di presentare la mostra “Poxoes: splendore, ossa, radice”. La mostra verrà inaugurata martedì 28 novembre dalle ore 18:00 alle ore 20:00 e sarà visitabile fino a sabato 2 dicembre 2023.

Poxoes è una mostra di sei artisti che mettono in discussione ed esplorano l'esperienza personale, il potere del linguaggio e la sfuggevolezza del significato. È il culmine di lavori trascorsi a colmare le loro esperienze e relazioni personali mentre in contatto con l'ambiente storico che Roma offre. Poxoes enfatizza la magia che accade quando ci si trova in un luogo di feroce inconsapevolezza e fiducia.

Gli artisti partecipanti sono candidati BFA e MFA presso la Tyler School of Art and Architecture, Temple University (Philadelphia, PA) che hanno trascorso un semestre presso il Campus di Roma della Temple University. Gli artisti, Deejay Bosca (incisione), Jodi Canfield (pittura), Francesca Lally (incisione), Olivia Musselman (incisione), Alessandra Puglisi (scultura) e Katharine Suchan (pittura), presenteranno il loro recentissimo lavoro, prodotto in questi mesi a Roma.

For more information/per maggiore informazioni: Shara Wasserman,

Director of Exhibitions: shara@temple.edu